NATION ON WAY TO BIG NAVY; ADDS 16 SHIPS

Fifteen Cruisers and One Aircraft Carrier Provided in Measure

READY FOR COOLIDGE

President May Suspend Program If Arms Agreement Is Reached

WASHINGTON Feb 6 — The American government appeared [illegible] on its way today to the construction of [illegible] American navy — second to none in the world — unless a new disarmament conference is held

The administration's new cruiser bill passed by an overwhelming vote of the senate was sent to conference today to iron out minor differences in the measure as it passed the two branches of congress It probably will be finally enacted and sent to the White House for President Coolidge's signature before the end of the week

The bill will add 15 fast 10 000-ton cruisers carrying eight inch guns to the American navy supplanting old worn out warships some of which date back a quarter of a century A modern giant aircraft carrier was authorized too

May Suspend Program

There were two distinct notes of peace in the bill however—a provision that the president shall suspend all or part of the construction program if a new disarmament agreement is reached among the nations and the Reed amendment proposing international treaties to guarantee the rights of neutrals and private property on the sea in time of war The president likewise was "encouraged to arrange another disarmament conference

The vote enacting the bill was 68 to 12 bearing our forecast All efforts to soften the building program were defeated and its warmest advocates declared the measure by placing an adequate American navy on the high seas would tend to promote world peace

Turns to Grain Bill

The senate meanwhile turned to its remaining legislative duties The Caraway anti-grain gambling bill was made the unfinished business but the war department appropriation bill was taken up for immediate consideration

In conference the house and senate must agree upon two senate amendments One was the Reed amendment and the other would allow the navy yards to buy any special equipment for the new warships from private manufacturers if the navy found this course economical Both amendments undoubtedly will be accepted by the house

Scatters Activity

The cruisers will each cost $17 000 000 and the aircraft carrier $19 000 000 making 274 000 000 in all Half of the vessels will be built in government yards and half in private yards thus scattering the building activity all over the country

The time limit previously approved by the house was retained by the senate over the opposition of President Coolidge This provided that five cruisers be started this year five more in 1930 and the last five in 1931 The aircraft carrier must be started prior to June 30 1930

Child left weak by "flu" gaining every day now

THAT'S the trouble with flu — it leaves you feeling so weak—it seems forever before you get back your normal pep

If your child has had even the mildest kind of attack, do watch his progress afterwards carefully

For the weakness resulting from flu is dangerous too Don't let the system get clogged at this crucial period Give your child a teaspoonful of Nujol every day to help regulate his system eliminate poisons and bring about better health

Physicians agree that particularly after illness, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable Many doctors are therefore prescribing Nujol as in no case does it cause exhaustion or weakening of the system in any way

Nujol is as harmless as water Just a pure natural substance Contains no drugs or medicine Nujol is completely safe for any child Lots of mothers have used it for their babies since birth It works so naturally and easily that it can't possibly upset or disagree with the child It is easy to take

Buy a bottle of Nujol today and use it, faithfully till you see the roses blooming in your child's cheeks again That's worth a lot isn't it? Made by the makers of Mistol

Classification of Marion Grade School Pupils Lists 36.7 Per Cent Retarded

Showing Regarded as Favorable by Supt Bowman Who Makes Survey, "Skipping" Grades Not Recommended as Policy for Brighter Students

A recent survey made by George A Bowman superintendent of Marion public schools shows that 36.7 per cent of children below the freshman grade in high school are retarded and that three per cent are accelerated

By retardation the report does not mean necessarily that these students are low in their standing but that their [illegible] do not correspond to the grade they should be in according to rules of the [illegible] system Acceleration means the [illegible] of course that the student is advanced in grade beyond the school age average

The report of 36.7 per cent retardation is regarded as favorable by Mr Bowman who has made reports of this kind at least every two years in the schools where he has been in charge before he came to this city

The survey goes on to show that a child who enters school when older than five and one half or six and one half years will appear as a retarded or average pupil

Divisions Essential

In the report Supt Bowman expresses the opinion that retardation will never be eliminated as long as the mentally inferior child is forced to do the work of the regular school curriculum

The report also shows that the schools are not facilitating the more rapid progress of the bright pupil It is highly probable the report states that as long as groups remain so large attempts to accelerate the progress of pupils will result in more harm than good

Skipping of grades is not the answer to the problem Supt Bowman states in the report Unless the pupil who has been skipped a grade may learn the essentials of the grade he has omitted the policy is usually advised against by Mr Bowman

There is a higher percentage of acceleration shown in record of the eighth grade because a large number of the pupils in this grade have had double promotions in the intermediate grades

Pupils Classified

Statistically the report shows that there are [illegible] pupils attending school up to and including the eighth grade Of this number 60.1 per cent are normal 36.7 per cent retarded and 3.1 per cent accelerated This is a report [illegible] on grade school standing [illegible]

The following is a report by grades

First grade 297 enrolled 73.8 per cent normal 24.[illegible] per cent retarded and [illegible] accelerated second grade [illegible] enrolled [illegible] per cent normal [illegible] per cent retarded and 1 per cent accelerated third grade 341 enrolled [illegible] per cent normal 31.2 per cent retarded and 1.6 per cent accelerated fourth grade [illegible] enrolled 58 per cent normal 40.6 per cent retarded and 1.1 per cent accelerated fifth grade 340 enrolled [illegible]1 per cent normal 43 per cent retarded and 9 per cent accelerated sixth grade 306 enrolled [illegible] per cent normal 45.1 per cent retarded and 1.1 per cent accelerated seventh grade [illegible] enrolled 4[illegible] per cent normal 18 per cent retarded and [illegible] per cent accelerated eighth grade 4[illegible] enrolled 1.6 per cent normal 6[illegible] retarded and 1.[illegible] per cent accelerated

An interesting part of the survey is the report from the school for crippled children taught by Miss Rhea King The enrollment is 18 pupils of all grades with [illegible] per cent normal and 7.8 per cent retarded

There are many reasons for the ease of steering the new Ford

THE new Ford is exceptionally easy to steer because of the well-proportioned weight of the car, the steel-spoke wheels, the coordinated design of springs and shock absorbers, the size and design of the steering wheel, and the simple mechanical construction of the steering gear.

The Ford steering gear is of the worm and sector type used on high-priced cars and is three-quarter irreversible.

In simple, non-technical language, this means that the car responds easily and quickly to the steering wheel, yet there is no danger of the wheel being jerked from the hands of the driver by ruts or bumps in the road A light touch guides the car, yet you always have that necessary feel-of-the-road so essential to good driving.

Strength of materials and careful workmanship give unusual stability to the Ford steering gear and housing

The steering worm, for instance, is splined to the steering worm shaft and is stronger, of course, than if a single key were used to hold the shaft and worm together. The steering worm sector is forged and machined in the same piece with its shaft.

The housing of the steering gear mechanism is made of three steel forgings, electrically welded together. This housing is then electrically welded to the steering column. Such a one-piece steel unit is naturally much sturdier than if several parts were used and bolted or riveted together.

Throughout, the steering mechanism of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no attention.

The only thing for you to do is to have the front steering spindles, spindle connecting rods, and drag link lubricated every 500 miles and the steering gear lubricated every 2000 miles. This is easy to do because of the high pressure grease gun lubricator fittings provided for these parts.

For this work, you will find it best to consult the Ford dealer. He has been specially trained and equipped to help you get the greatest possible use from your car over the longest period of time at the least trouble and expense, [illegible] a citizen who has made Marion his home for many years. He declares that even though the modern dairy system is [illegible] improved over the methods of years ago, the present day milkman is [illegible] compared with Jake Snyder, one of Marion's pioneer vendors of the lacteal fluid and its by-products.

Mr. Snyder, it appears, had something akin to a monopoly on the milk [illegible] here [illegible] about 1880. He delivered from a wagon similar to those in use today but it was closed [illegible] afforded effectual protection [illegible] ... Snyder [illegible] installed a [illegible] ... Victims of Winter

THE last month, bringing with it an unusually extensive siege of old-fashioned winter weather, created an urgent demand for the [illegible] ...

[illegible] of the human race. Snow covered ground which results in submerging of the food supply for birds means that these tiny citizens of the air go hungry unless kindly and thoughtful persons go to the trouble of scattering substitute provender as a substitute.

Many Marion residents make a practice of feeding birds in this fashion every winter. The last month provided exceptional opportunity for extending aid to the feathered victims of the cold who have no means of making known their wants and suffering.

Beef suet, bread crumbs and other food particles placed out of doors on the frozen or snow covered earth are the means of saving many birds from starvation.

Picturesque Toilers

THE warning recently issued by Fire Chief McFarland against danger of fire from clogged chimneys and flues recalls the time many years ago when Marion citizens could have responded to the chief's notice readily by calling on the services of the [illegible] chimney sweep.

Marion's chimney sweeps of those earlier days were an efficient, happy-go-lucky lot. Many can remember when these [illegible] and industrious individuals, dressed in clothes that were old but [illegible] at the top with a plug hat, made their regular winter visits to the city.

Their plan of advertising was to sit on the outside of the chimney singing while they worked. They always operated from the outside, scooping the soot up with a [illegible]-like instrument and [illegible] in bags.

A chimney sweep who didn't wear a plug hat was a discredit to his profession. It seemed to be a mark of that particular vocation. Although the most of them sang while at work not all were gifted with voices of exceptional quality. Vocal talent wasn't essential to efficiency but it did draw a large audience and was of course good for business.

RESIGNATION OF BUCKLEY IS GIVEN

Third and Final Offer Accepted After Two Are Refused

[illegible] and check up of the office prior to the transfer of the office of treasurer of the state from Bert B. Buckley, the present treasurer, to the new treasurer, to be qualified.

Check Up Accounts

Auditor Tracy immediately dispatched examiners to the state treasury to begin the work of checking up Buckley's accounts.

The state examiners will work day and night and will work through Sunday if necessary to complete the audit in record time. They hope to finish their task not later than next Monday.

Governor Cooper pointed out that under existing circumstances, together with the fact that Buckley is liable under his bond as state treasurer until the audit is completed, the state's interests are adequately safeguarded pending the appointment of a successor to the retiring treasurer.

There was much conjecture in statehouse circles as to the identity of Buckley's successor. Since it first became apparent that Buckley could not remain in office for long in view of his conviction last week in federal court a steady stream of applications for his position and indorsements of candidates has poured into Cooper's office.

Among Those

Among those under consideration for the post, it is understood, are the following:

Charles D. Simeral, Steubenville.

Earl Rutledge, Kenton.

Former Treasurer Harry Day, Fremont.

Guy Davis, Findlay.

Leon Shank, Dayton.

A. Ross Ake, Canton.

Former Treasurer Rudy W. Archer, Cleveland. Archer is formerly of Belmont county.

Seth Snyder, Coshocton.

Edgar Irvin, Columbus, formerly of Pomeroy.

Former State Banking Supt. H. Ed. Scott, Troy.

The governor is in receipt of scores of telegrams and letters from citizens in all sections of Ohio, including many prominent judges, strongly commending him for the course he followed in handling the Buckley case.

The resignation of Buckley marks the close of a hectic two days in the state capitol. His resignation did not come as a surprise. It was the only avenue of retreat left for the late treasurer.

Political pressure was brought on the man and impeachment proceedings were started.

His forced removal from office resulted from his conviction in federal court Saturday on liquor conspiracy and attempted bribery charges in connection with the Cincinnati beer brewery bribery investigation.

Cooper In Confer

Governor Cooper said he was calling in members of the Republican state central committee for a conference in his office tomorrow morning, before announcing Buckley's successor.

He pointed out that while he expects to assume full responsibility for the selection of the new state treasurer, he thought it advisable to confer with the state central committee before finally making his selection.

Roadside Market As Means To Dispose of Products Is Discussed at Farm Meet

2,000 Persons Attend Annual Farmers' Week at Ohio State University, C. G. Williams, Experiment Station Director, Opens Federation Session

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6—More than 2,000 persons were in attendance at the seventeenth annual Farmers' week and Ohio Farm Bureau Federation sessions today at Ohio State university here.

H. H. Vaughn, Columbiana, opened the farmers' week program today with a talk on the roadside market. Vaughn was one of the first Ohio farmers to establish a roadside market as a channel through which to dispose of his products.

"The principal factors," he said, "governing the management and success of a roadside market are the same as those governing other retail markets: location of the farm, the attractive appearance of the market, careful grading of the produce and attention to the specialized need of various types of customers are all points which must be watched by the roadside seller."

Talk on Wheat

The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation session was opened by C. G. Williams, director of the Ohio State agricultural experiment station, who summarized wheat growing principles in a talk on making the wheat crop safe.

Giving the results of his experiment plots at the experiment station last year when a 60 per cent failure in wheat was recorded for the state, Williams listed timely sowing, proper fertilization and a wise selection of variety as methods of combating winter killing of the wheat crop.

Another way to make the wheat crop safe might be to grow rye, [illegible] Williams said. However, 80 different tests in Ohio in widely separated counties, and extending over a 10-year period, including 1928, have shown winter wheat to yield a larger net cash return than oats, barley or spring wheat.

PICTURE IS CENTER OF $500,000 SUIT

Art Dealer Charges Painting Not from Brush of Master

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—Leonard Da Vinci was more than a great artist. He was a magician if he painted the picture that forms the basis of a $500,000 suit being heard in supreme court today against Sir Joseph Duveen—so Sir Joseph declared with his subdued British smile.

For, said the defendant, the picture is painted on canvas which had not been manufactured at the time the great master flourished, almost five centuries ago.

Said the defendant further—and he is regarded as the greatest art dealer of the present day—the picture could not even have been executed by one of Da Vinci's imitating contemporaries.

The picture in question is "La Belle Ferroniere" (The Blacksmith's Daughter). It belongs to Mrs. Audree Fardoux Hahn of Kansas City, who complains that she was about to sell it to the Kansas City art museum for $250,000 when Sir Joseph declared it merely a copy of Da Vinci's master piece.

On the witness stand for many hours Sir Joseph declared there are only eight authenticated canvases by Da Vinci in the world and none of them privately owned. Attorney Miller asked:

If this Hahn painting is an original Da Vinci what would it be worth?

"If it was genuine I might get $2,000,000 or $4,000,000 for it," came the bland response.

BRIDE KILLED

Wealthy Husband in Serious Condition Following Explosion

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—Whitney Van Wickner, 40, wealthy contractor of Richmond Hill, a suburb, is in a serious condition today and his bride of a month is dead as the aftermath of a gas explosion which wrecked their home last night.

The couple had just returned from a honeymoon in California. When the bride attempted to light the gas range to prepare their first meal in their new home the combination of flame, gas and the stuffy air of the long-closed room caused a combustion. The wife, Mrs. Jessie Van Wickner, 38, was buried under the debris and died almost instantly.

HOUSE WILL REPEAL INSURANCE TAX LAW

Legislature Also Expected To Pass Office Building Bill

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6—The house this afternoon is expected to pass the Bender bill repealing the law enacted at the session two years ago which increases from 2½ to three per cent the state tax upon the gross premiums of foreign insurance companies operating in Ohio.

This bill already has passed the senate.

The house also is scheduled to pass the West bill today. This measure re-appropriates $2,201,300.75 for construction of state institutional buildings during the coming two years. This money appropriated for a similar purpose two years ago lapsed into the state general revenue fund Jan. 1 because it had not been spent.

The senate calendar for today provides for the reference to committees of a number of bills including the Bender bill which seeks to abolish the state censorship of motion pictures; the Johnson bill providing for the transfer of the state library from the state house to the Ohio State university library with the exception of the state reference department, and the Ackerman bill raising the maximum pay of guards at Ohio penitentiary from $130 to $140 a month with two weeks vacation annually.

NOBODY KNOWS, CARES WHERE TROTZKY IS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 6—In the face of apparently trustworthy reports that Leon Trotzky had safely arrived at Eregli, the Soviet consulate here today denied any knowledge of his arrival or even of the report that he was coming to Turkey.

Officials of the Soviet Navigation Co. here, operators of the steamer Krasny Flott which was supposed to have brought Trotzky to the Turkish port on the Black Sea, made similar denials.

The two doors on each side of a new English automobile open to make the full length of the car accessible.

TWO CASES DECIDED WITHIN TWO HOURS

Speed Record Established at Hearings in County Court Today

What is claimed to be a record for the local common pleas court was established this morning when the jury returned two verdicts in less than two hours. Both verdicts were directed by Judge Scofield, one resulted from the settlement of a case and the other on motion of defense attorneys.

Paul O. Schmidt, a minor, was given a verdict of $1,800 in his $10,000 damage suit against Neil B. Shepherd when Judge Scofield directed the jury to return a verdict in that amount. Judge Scofield directed the verdict when it was announced by attorneys that settlement had been reached.

Schmidt was represented by Grant E. Mouser of the law firm of Mouser, Young & Mouser. The law firm of Carhart & Warner represented Shepherd.

The second verdict was directed for the defendant in the suit brought by Zonas H. McLean against Ada May Moore and Clarence Moore to collect on a $2,000 note. The note, according to attorneys for the defense, was given without consideration in a real estate deal and was to be void unless the deal was consummated. The transaction was never completed, it is said.

Moore was represented by Attorney F. D. Williamson. Attorneys Louis E. Myers of Marion and LeRoy Allen of Richwood represented the defendants.

made at the request of Buckley, who asked for an examination immediately after his indictment by the federal grand jury on Dec. 11, 1928.

Visits His Office

Late last night Buckley made a visit to his office in the capitol and took away with him all of his personal effects.

While the state treasury is closed to the public, the governor reiterated that it is functioning normally insofar as its relations with the various departments of state is concerned.

Complaint was made to the governor by a number of state employes that they were unable to cash personal checks at the treasury this morning as they did in the past.

Cooper simply replied that no one will be greatly inconvenienced by the procedure at the state treasury and emphasized that during the examination it will continue normally without impairing any activities of the state government.

The Buckley Case

Bert B Buckley is no longer state treasurer. He tendered his resignation to Governor Cooper Tuesday evening to become effective this morning, and the impeachment proceeding initiated in the house will be dropped

It is with distinct shock one learns of a respected public official gone wrong. Bert Buckley as treasurer of the state of Ohio held a commanding position. The fitness of the man for the work he had to do is unquestioned. He looked after the finances of the state in commendable fashion

But a jury at Columbus has decided that Buckley is guilty of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws and of attempted bribery. That verdict wrecks for all time the standing of Buckley in Ohio. His reputation is blackened his name is under a stigma and the thousands of men and women of Ohio, who with their ballots elevated Buckley to the enviable position he occupied are disappointed in him

Just why it is that men in and out of public life conspire to break the laws of the nation is beyond comprehension. It would appear however that each convinces himself he is smarter than his fellows and expects to get away with it. Records of the courts are filled with instances that disprove the correctness of such a premise

The effort during the Buckley trial to impeach the honesty of men like Governor Cooper and Senator [illegible] and others high in official and political life in Ohio proved abortive just as was expected. The man who caught in a jam like Buckley cries. He helped do it [illegible] to any great consideration. The [illegible] Buckley's attempt [illegible] caught ought to be [illegible] to take the 'fall' as the saying is [illegible] of trying to besmirch the reputation of others

Buckley naturally will appeal. [illegible] the history of such appeals [illegible] the lower courts very [illegible] If the appeal is turned down [illegible] Buckley will be called upon [illegible] ever sentence the trial judge may [illegible] And it will be possible, under [illegible] to make the sentence a stiff one

However, no matter what [illegible] of the courts may be, Buckley must suffer [illegible] heavy penalty imposed upon him in the [illegible] he mind which is aghast that one elevated to state office can betray the people of the state in a way so contemptibly mean and little

This Younger Generation

In contrast to the condemning criticism which we hear these days about the wayward ways of the youth of the land [illegible] to hear some good things said of the rising generation. Certainly if all we hear [illegible] that scornful fingers point to and [illegible] tongues decry, the end of the world must soon be at hand

The most optimistic point of the situation lies in the fact that the school people who have the closest contact with youth are not greatly excited about the present state of affairs. True they know that there are some wild parties some drinking, some roadside necking and the like, but they know too that it has always been so and even worse. They do not permit the side-tracking of a small minority to obscure their confidence in the high purpose and straight walking of the majority

No less an authority than Dr Frank Boynton president of the department of superintendency of the National Education association in a recent address to high school principals of Massachusetts came to the defense of The Unspanked Generation. Said he: Today it takes a better boy or girl to be a good boy or girl than was the case fifty years ago

Making a comparison with what Old Dobbin could do after a day's work and what the modern automobile can do Dr Boynton makes the interesting observation that the radius of mischief open to the boys and girls of today as compared with those of yesterday is as forty five to one

With regard to the youth in college he quoted several college officials. Thomas A Clark for thirty years dean of men at the University of Illinois should know whereof he speaks. There is less rowdyism drunkenness and shiftlessness in the students of today than in any college generation with which I have been acquainted

Dr Ernest M Hopkins president of Dartmouth has no less faith in students of the present day. Said he: Our college youth confronts a world of bewildering propensities undreamed of in any preceding generation and faces it unafraid. In straightforwardness in unhypocritical honesty in clearness of thought and integrity of action in aspiration and idealism their like has not been seen before

While Dr Boynton thinks the modern youth is doing a fine job under the circumstances he is not unmindful of the need of reducing the juvenile delinquency which does exist. His observations while they might hurt with some are well founded

I am not looking for any diminution in juvenile delinquency until fathers care more for the friendship of their sons than for the friendship of their golf clubs he declared. I am not looking for any similar diminution among girls until mothers care more for the rare experience of associating with their own daughters than for bringing home a prize from a bridge party

Washington reports that Mr Hoover favors the shifting of dry enforcement to the department of justice. Not a half bad idea. It's hardly the thing to ask the revenue collecting department to kill the goose that lays the gold eggs while the justice department is in line to acquire high honors by doing it

At last the cabinet makers have definitely decided that Henry L Stimson will be secretary of state. That simplifies matters decidedly but of course Mr Hoover may have a few ideas of his own regarding the state portfolio

The course of the Prince of Wales in going to the Welsh coal district has been referred to by a labor member of the British house of commons as the finest action done by any member of the royal family in a hundred years which is all right in its way but while the prince is seeking [illegible] not pray for himself but [illegible] relief for the miners and their families

Faulty Diet and Development.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

One of the sad things about life is that strive as we may there are sure to be unhappy experiences. I regard the mother job as the most important in the world. If I had it in my power to do so I should confer good health upon every baby born into the world. By doing this I should bring happiness to every mother on the face of the earth

Perhaps the most discouraging of the many experiences mothers have is the failure of their babies to develop. In spite of what the mother thinks is proper feeding and in spite of all the love showered upon the infant it does not grow

Doctors speak of undevelopment loss of weight and low vitality as being evidences of malnutrition. The word is applied to those thin pale delicate children with dark rings round their eyes rough hair and flat chests. They are apt to be nervous restless disturbed in sleep and fussy about their food

The most common cause of malnutrition is a faulty diet. By this I mean that the food is insufficient in amount or improper in kind. Besides the habits in eating may be bad

Even a child breast fed by an apparently healthy mother may not be getting enough milk. Even though the quantity may be sufficient the quality of the milk may be below par

A child particularly in those early months when growth should be pronounced must have an abundance of lime. The most dependable source of lime is milk. Unless this material is supplied in abundance there is sure to be evidence of malnutrition

What I say about the baby is equally true of the older child. It is an unfortunate thing that many growing children are permitted to eat candy and other sweets to the detriment of their regular meals. I have no objection as you know to candy and sweets at a seasonable time but they must be taken so that they will not interfere in the eating of substantial dishes at the table

Regularity in feeding is of vital importance to children of all ages. The feedings of the baby must be at regular time. These periods must be as well established as the numbers on the clock. If they are not disorders of digestion are sure to follow

On a par with this is the between meal eating of older children. Before they have digested the food taken between times they sit down to the table without appetite for the good things which are there. Children must have the minerals which vegetables possess. They must have iron phosphorus the vitamins and all the other elements necessary for development

The one thing I desire to impress upon you today is that faulty diet is the chief cause of malnutrition

Editorial Opinion.

QUESTION OF RIGHT NOT OF PRIVILEGE

Any special law affecting a particular part of the population of a country is sure to be unsatisfactory to somebody and no matter how great its merit there is a large likelihood that somebody may even suffer actual hardship because of it. The perfect statute which will delight and benefit all alike is yet to be passed

So it is natural that a certain number of women should be in Washington advocating the submission of a so-called equal rights amendment to the constitution which if adopted would destroy all the legislation passed through the years for the protection of the sex from social and industrial exploitation

Though preserved from harm and disaster by such legislation a few women neglect or decline to take into account the large benefits received from it and think only of certain limitations which it places on them, and which because they live under special conditions they happen to find irksome. Though they may not realize it such women really are protesting against nature for making them women instead of men

The great majority of the members of the sex however take a broader view. They urge the continuance of special legal considerations and protections not as a matter of privilege but as a matter of right and justice because women have a special responsibility in the world for which they must keep themselves fit. Their job is the perpetuation of a healthy and measurably decent and clean living race. And nobody can substitute for them in that work. As a matter of choice or necessity they may do other work also and some of them may neglect or refuse to perform their principal task but legislation should be passed for the big majority of normal sane minded women not for the benefit of a few exceptions a considerable number of whom are maladjustment cases or worse.—Detroit Free Press

IMPROVING ON NATURE

The affairs of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association seem to be in a rather bad way. This organization started some twelve years ago to have heroic statues of famous confederate generals hewn out of the granite rocks on the heights of Stone mountain in Georgia. Gutzon Borglum was the sculptor first employed but a squabble developed between him and the association managers and another man was hired. Up to date the association has spent $1 190 845. It owes $ [illegible]0 000 and the man who sold the mountain to the organization has sued to recover it alleging that all there is to show for the twelve years activity is the mutilated bust of a man intended as a likeness of General Lee to whom it bears no resemblance

It is a curious idea that great mountain rocks in their natural setting can be improved upon by sculptors. The mountainside should be left to nature who is a good enough sculptor. All art it is a clever imitation of nature and rugged mountains might well be left to the master artist. To endeavor to improve Stone mountain with statuary is like trying to improve Niagara falls by painting portraits on the cliff. Man is pretty smart but nature has turned out some things that are better left alone. The Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association might well disband before it does any more damage.—Ohio State Journal

McIntyre on Vacation

BY O O McINTYRE

London, Feb 6—London [illegible] phantoms of the dim past [illegible] long ago. From [illegible] the bitter [illegible] of the [illegible] imperial [illegible] public markets changing [illegible] color romance

Among those I jotted down of an evening while exploring [illegible] were Maggie's alley, Turn [illegible] Hanging Sword court, Friday [illegible] Noster row, Pudding lane, Birdcage [illegible] Amen corner, Dr Johnson lane, Lovers [illegible] Temple bar

But the name of my favorite boulevard can not be printed. It is a [illegible] word [illegible] Threadneedle [illegible] pubs and coffee houses where the cab drivers of London gather to sip ale and [illegible] the bird

London cab drivers are a close knit fraternity but they spend [illegible] abusing one another. Chaffing they call it. I hailed a Jolly Rover for a short spin this morning to a steamship office and on the way his cab was brushed by another

The air turned blue. When paying the fare I remarked You were pretty rough on him weren't you. His leather face broke [illegible] into a winning grin. I don't mind [illegible] There are innumerable cabbies who might have posed for those beaming ruddy [illegible] John Bull caricatures

The congeniality of the cabman is not however a reflection of the so called servant class. Most servants are human icebergs. Just when you think they are humbly obesiant they suddenly disarm you with a dignified stiffness. To the American they appear passionless automatons

Englishmen often admit they are never able to shake off the notion most servants have a secret contempt for employers. There is something of the acid tang about their apparently meek Very good sir. But they are diplomats and give a sufficient hint of warmth at the proper time to avoid the sack

In Romano's for instance the breakfast waiter bowed gravely and said Thank you when I complained of his snatching the menu away twice. But I heard him say softly to one of his fellows The blighter wants to show me can read

* * *

London offers the best as well as the worst dressed men. The old coves with walrus mustaches and hearty garumphs are sartorial horrors in their muckle dun and poisonous green vests huge puff ties off color spats and big checkered trousers. But the young blood is a red hot fashion plate the style pace maker for men all over the world. New York laddies en passant are far better dressed than those of London and astonishingly better looking

* * *

The Britisher is especially adept in evening clothes. Before you finish a cigaret he can slip into a dinner jacket or full evening dress. Years of practice made him proficient. After coming home from the office having his tub every well bred Englishman dresses for dinner even though dining alone. He knows how to wear a silk topper at a jaunty angle carries his walking stick with distinction and there is a flair to the shoulder throw of his Inverness cape and even his bow tie ends somehow achieve a striking smartness. And if one does not believe there is an art in tucking a handkerchief in the breast pocket he should inspect a London toff

* * *

The newest note in full evening dress is encompassed in the weskit. To call it a vest is just as rowdy as calling braces suspenders. The new weskit—and like most of the new styles was designed for the Prince of Wales and popularized once he wears them — is single breasted and in contrast to the sawed off weskit of a few years ago has deep and sweeping long pointed ends. It is fitted corset like around the waist making the points flare out somewhat in the fashion of the wings on Lew Dockstader's old time minstrel collar

* * *

The worst dressed Londoner is the best known man about town. His name is Hannen Swaffer known where Piccadilly chandeliers blaze brightest as Swaff. He is hated and feared by many theatrical people on account of his critical roasts. The nattiest dresser naturally is Wales. Just now he features silk shirts with collar to match of dove gray. Who brought up the subject of clothes anyway?—Copyright 1929 by the McNaught Syndicate Inc

BY GARRETT P SERVISS

It is regrettable that more is not known about one of the most remarkable occurrences in the recent history of the earth. I refer to the fall of a gigantic meteor or rather a swarm of great meteorites that happened in northeastern Siberia [illegible] years ago. A year or so ago I wrote a column what then was known of the occurrence and the latest information [illegible] goes no farther than to corroborate the original account which was almost incredible in its details. Professor Kulik a Russian [illegible] who has visited the scene—or a part of it—which lies in a region difficult of access reports that all animal life together with vegetation was destroyed throughout an area of [illegible]000 square miles. That would be [illegible] fifty miles on a side equal to [illegible] the area of the entire state of Rhode Island and beyond the area of total destruction over a radius of a hundred miles—covering more than 60 000 square miles—the primeval forest which clothes that part of Siberia [illegible] felled to the ground

On the 30th of July 1908 the earth was struck this tremendous blow. The indications are that it was not a single meteor but a salvo of them that fell upon that most uninhabited region in Siberia. No human eye as far as is known witnessed the fall of the meteorites. But the shock was felt hundreds of miles away and recorded by seismographs as far as Irkutsk, 800 miles away

Natives of that part of Siberia where the blow fell told of flashing lights seen in the daylight sky and tremblings of the earth. Some told of an awful wind which leveled everything in its path and of the obstruction of a river by rocks and debris of the destroyed forest

There is only one other instance of a [illegible] of the earth by a gigantic missile from space leaving a conspicuous mark, a meteorite which bored a great hole in the rocks. That is the case of the Arizona rocks resembling a volcanic crater near Canyon Diablo. But the Arizona missile appears to have been a single solid shot while in the Siberian case it was rather as if the mighty guns of some invisible dreadnaught lying beyond the blue had been concentrated upon the earth and fired together or in rapid succession

What is the meaning of this seeming bombardment from space which our planet undergoes?— for smaller missiles of the kind are falling upon the atmospheric shield all the time. It would be worth while for any person whose mind is moved by intelligent curiosity about the world we live in and the universe that encloses it to pay a visit to the American Museum of Natural History in New York simply for the purpose of studying the huge meteorites that are displayed in its entrance hall. Look especially at the mass of solid iron that Peary brought from Greenland where it must have fallen from the sky in ancient unrecorded time. It weighs more than thirty six tons! Think of a gun big enough to hurl a projectile of that size

But these are not projectiles they are little planets. Before they hit the earth they travel in orbits around the sun. Their hitting our planet is one of the hazards of their existence which must be rather monotonous upon the whole. All the members of the sun's system of attendant bodies pull and haul upon one another as they circle around in wavering ellipses and the meteorites being very numerous and distributed through the spaces between the planets are subject to many perturbations which result in some of them being brought so near the earth that they fall under the mastery of its attraction and end their careers either by being burnt up in a bright flight through the atmosphere or by plunging their scorched and fire gouged bodies into the sea or the dry land. Fortunately the number of very massive ones as well as those that travel in close companies is relatively small.—Copyright 1929 International Feature Service Inc

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON

The human being appears to be behind his evolution. He comes along but slowly. Bees and ants have gone farther. Bees and ants have reached such a stage of perfection in their method of living that they are practically standardized. The human being is not so. He is still struggling along stopping and starting making many errors trying to improve his methods. That's what makes the world so interesting. When evolution is completed—if such an idea is thinkable—the world will be a dull place. There will be no adventure

It has been said that science is information about materials art and literature is information about people. True education implies much familiarity with both materials and people. The most learned man in the laboratory no matter how much he knows about chemicals is not truly educated if he is unmindful of the reactions of the human being

This was designated as school night of the series of programs arranged for the week. Several numbers were played by the band under leadership of I. R. Ev[illegible], public school director of music. Mr. Shade spoke on aims and service of the American legion and related his World war experiences. He told of awards which are to be made by the local legion to the boy and the girl making the best showings in school work this year. J. W. Llewellyn presided as chairman.

Tonight's program at the Dugout, [illegible] at 8 o'clock will be featured by a community sing led by Ass Sheen. Piano accompaniments will be played by Miss Kathleen Belcher.

Legion members today again called attention to the fact that the programs this week are open to the general public. Citizens are especially urged to attend tonight's meeting.

If I Were A Man

I WOULDN'T refuse to take "N" for an answer when I asked a girl for a date.

There are all are some girls who don't regard kissing as a favorite sport — and they're the ones who'd like the privilege of choosing with whom they're going to play.

I'd remember that although girls like to be coaxed and say no when they mean yes there are others who really say what they mean and with them no' means emphatically hands off

I wouldn't be so sure of my fascination and my power to charm that I couldn't conceive of a girl not wanting to pet and I wouldn't make myself objectionable by eternally harping on the subject to the point of saturation I'd rather have no kiss at all than an unwilling one and if a girl said no and really meant it I'd regretfully lay off

Over persistence makes for stubbornness—and ten chances to one I'd get my kiss the minute I stopped asking for it

If I Were A Girl

I WOULD spend as much money on my feet as on my face

I know girls who would die from shame if they were seen in public without a shiny nose or unrouged cheeks yet those same girls think nothing of wearing shoes with run over heels and scuffed toes

There are girls who pay a weekly visit to a beauty shop and pay a dollar for a marcel yet begrudge ten cents for a shine

They will spend their money recklessly for every new lipstick powder or rouge put on the market and will gladly spend for creams and skin lotions yet they will put up a fuss at spending for a pair of good looking shoes I guess girls don't know that nine men out of ten look at a girl's feet before they look at her face Knowing as they must that it is not hard to keep even well worn shoes looking neat most men are sure that untidy shoes is a sign of carelessness

Men like girls have well shod feet

EX-PRESIDENT MILLERAND HAS UNIQUE PRIVILEGE

PARIS—M Alexandre Millerand former president of France enjoys a privilege that is almost unique

Mme Millerand has the right twice a year to enter convents from sunrise to sundown

The Order was invested with them by a Pontifical Letter dated February 23 1772 By virtue of the King of Spain's decree on September 19 1771 a Grand Dignitary is to enjoy the direct protection of the Virgin Mary

Meditations OF A Married Woman

—BY HELEN ROWLAND—

ON ALIMONOGAMY

WHEN a masterful man marries a managing woman the angels stuff cotton in their ears

* * *

The tired business man in search of a little diverting love making must find the flapper a wonderful labor saving device

* * *

Men are rebelling against the payment of alimony But if a man will pay a wife good money for running his house ensuring his diet mussing up his morning newspaper hiding his gun and making him wear overshoes why shouldn't he joyfully pay her twice the amount for letting him ALONE

* * *

Now that a girl doesn't have to stop to button her frocks or do up her hair she can be all dressed up in time—to sit around and wait two hours for the dilly-dallying modern man to show up

* * *

Marriage has become a major operation to which a man submits only under an anaesthetic, and against which he struggles as long as he is conscious

* * *

Most matrimonial mistakes are the result of that nobody-loves-me feeling When you are suffering from love's hangover almost anything in trousers who tells you how wonderful you are looks just like Fate

* * *

No two women can be quite so chummy as two who have been divorced from the same man

No doubt that was it. He must have forgotten to even glance at my luggage label. However it was me intention to leave Naples to night. And apparently I left Naples last night. And here I am.

Well said the baron I a a to have ye here and ye v e pleased if I've put ye to any inconvenience.

Again the Wireless

Not at all. I had three rather important appointments in Rome for tomorrow afternoon. At one time they seemed important last night; this morning sailing along like this nothing seems important—except what's going on in this really wonderful yacht of yours. Mr. Sutherland's glance met that of the baron for a moment. The baron glared at him.

I hope ye'll stay with us as long as ye can, said the baron.

Oh, I will, thanks very much, answered Septimus with a sign of enthusiasm. If I might, I should like to make use of your wireless.

Sure, said Lord Furber, and yelled Rayner.

Rayner appeared.

Send Mr. Tunnicliff to me.

Yes, my lord.

Yes, Harriet put in suddenly. It's all very well for Mr. Sutherland. He's got his luggage. And coat we all know it! She gazed as if enraptured at his fine raiment. But poor me.

Yes, laughed Lord Furber. Poor Harriet hasn't a clout to her back except my fur coat.

Mr. Sutherland had again a sense of disturbance. Harriet. And the pair had exchanged a peculiar smile as though they had come to some mysterious understanding in the night hours or at dawn. Mr. Sutherland did not like these phenomena at all. It immensely annoyed him that anybody at all (except of course himself) should have come to a mysterious understanding with the enchantress in the fur coat. And the hat coat she wore sho to Lord Furber. If own fur coat he wo a happy. But then Mr. Sutherland never traveled with a fur coat. He saw that he ought to do s

My lord.

The humble Luke John Tunnicliff had arrived on the boat deck. Harriet offered him a delicious smile which he received with a blush. Then Harriet said defiantly at the baron, saying, See how friendly we are, your secretary and your ex-confidential secretary.

Tunnicliff, said Lord Furber, will you please tell your cousin that he is to send off any messages Mr. Sutherland gives him.

Mr. Tunnicliff gravely nodded.

And what about me? asked Harriet.

And any of Miss Perkins too—of course, Lord Furber added.

Not that I shall have any to send off, said Harriet.

And any of Miss Perkins too, Lord Furber repeated.

Mr. Tunnicliff bowed again and departed.

The wireless is yours, said Lord Furber heartily, generous to Mr. Sutherland. At any time.

Oh, there's no hurry, thanks, Mr. Sutherland replied calmly. A few hours more or less—what does it matter?

Harriet having lighted a cigaret arose and leaned over the rail.

The sea's rather yellow here, isn't it? said she.

Mr. Sutherland arose and joined her.

How very interesting, said he. All one's life one has heard of the yellow Tiber, and here it is. See! We've passed the mouth already. That must be Civita Vecchia over here. He pointed.

Then where's Ostia?

Oh, Ostia must be behind us.

Behind us? She turned to Lord Furber. We've passed Ostia. Her gaze was a reproach; it was a charge of bad faith.

Rayner, yelled the baron.

My Lord.

Ask the skipper to speak to me at once.

Yes, my lord. Afraid he's turned in, my lord. He was on the bridge most of the night.

Get him.

Yes, my lord.

Lord Furber sprang up and walked about muttering to himself and to the world at large. Having regard to the vocabulary which he was employing, Harriet turned sharply back to the rail and glanced privately with amusement at Mr. Sutherland. Her wish to share her malicious amusement with him gave Mr. Sutherland a high satisfaction and quite extinguished his jealousy. They both continued to examine the surface of the sea with exaggerated ease, a tactful gesture always well when trouble is afoot between the owner and the captain.

Ostia

Captain Slapser knew his owner and came hurrying aft with as much speed as dignity would allow. Mr. Sutherland noticed out of the tail of his eye that the supreme navigating authority was very summarily clothed.

Joe, cried the baron before the captain was quite near him.

The captain, gloomy, resentful and apprehensive, said naught to this most improper greeting.

Said the owner: I thought we were calling at Ostia.

No, my lord, answered the captain with a demeanor of unconvincing surprise.

But haven't you had an official message from Rome? I was told so.

I did have a message. But there's nobody in Rome has the right to give orders to a British yacht—and flying the blue ensign too. My orders from you were Genoa.

Miss Perkins joyously nudged Mr. Sutherland in the side, which gave him still further satisfaction; he permitted himself roguishly to return the nudge. At the same moment he thought, frightened, of his middle age and of his wife.

Why didn't you ask me? Lord Furber fiercely inquired.

Your lordship was ill in bed. I did mention it to Mr. Bumption, my lord, and he thought——

You mean Mrs. Bumption thought. Lord Furber stopped him. Something on the surface of the Mediterranean attracted the baron's attention. With lightning quickness he said: Look here. See that?

A submarine was emerging from the depths.

Yes, my lord.

Well, what d'ye think of it, Joe? It's Italian, isn't that it? What d'ye think it's here for? He put a terrible slow sweetness into his powerful voice. Take my advice, Joe, and go back to Ostia as fast as ye can. And try not to tell me anything more about your cr nd Mrs. Bumption.

Yes, my lord.

And I say, Joe. Weren't on the course for Genoa here. You don't hug the shore when you're going from Naples to Genoa. What's the meaning of it?

Well, my lord, I wasn't sure what you'd decide. So I kept her in a bit. I thought ye'd tell me.

Well, I've told ye.

Captain Slapser, cowed and furious, went forward to his bridge. Soon the yacht swerved as it were savagely to port.

The baron laughed aloud. His guests, reassured, answered the signal by turning round to him. The baron winked at them. The submarine was steaming northwest, ignoring the Vanguard.

Well, what d'ye think of it? asked the baron.

We shan't say, said Harriet. Shall we, Mr. Sutherland?

No, we shan't.

Ye think I was a bit rough on the feller.

We shan't say.

No, we shan't.

"Anyhow the submarine was a godsend," grinned the baron. "Hell's delight."

And he laughed again and more loudly.

"Now, what are these?" asked Mr. Sutherland half an hour later, when the Vanguard's anchor chain was rattling down into 10 fathoms about a mile and a half from the shore. He pointed to a procession of small motor boats which were heading for the yacht.

Lord Furber, without answering, disappeared.

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affection

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mother Graham Tells Demands Explanation

MARY was so pitiful in her exhaustion following her attack of hysteria that I longed to cradle her in my arms as I would a sick baby. But I knew that absolute quiet was necessary for her so in answer to her imploring look as she breathed Noel's name I offered no other caress than a firm clasp of the hand.

You shall tell me all about it as soon as you have rested a little, I told her. And remember nothing is as bad in reality as it is in imagination. Perhaps I can straighten things out. But first you must rest. Shut your eyes and try to sleep.

She shook her head feebly, whether in doubt of my promise or a negation of her ability to sleep I did not know. But she closed her eyes obediently, and I stood holding her hand until its relaxed grasp told me that she had yielded to her exhaustion and was sleeping.

I stole away from the room and joined Lillian who had just come through the closet door from Mary's room to Mother Graham's and was picking her way gingerly through the bundles which filled my mother-in-law's closet.

Whatever is she going to do with all this junk? she inquired impatiently. And what is it anyway?

Dresses and pieces of cloth, most of them, I returned, adding slyly: I'm right glad her test came first instead of Harry's. Then I should have a problem on my hands.

A touch, Lillian acknowledged with a wry grin for her tenacity in holding on to newspaper clippings and magazines is a standing jest among us. But how is Mary? Better? I judge so, or you wouldn't be slanging me.

Asleep just now, I said. Will you steal in and stay with her while I hang these dresses back?

Sure thing, she assented. You're the ninth or tenth world wonder. Make, if you can remember exactly how those things were hung.

I'll defy her ever to know they've been moved, I said as I turned to the closet door with two of my mother-in-law's best gowns in my hands. But I almost dropped them as a quickly drawn breath from Lillian told me that what I feared had happened. The next instant the voice of Dicky's mother, icily disapproving, caromed through the room.

"May I ask, Margaret, what you and your friend are doing in my closet with my clothing, and why it should be necessary to keep me in ignorance of their having been moved? But you flatter yourself I should have known that they were disturbed. I always make certain so that I can see at a glance if anyone even has brushed against them. This I do as a protection against your servant's snooping. But I did not expect I should have to use it against my son's wife and a guest in his household."

She was magnificent—nothing less—and in her very best form. When as Dicky irreverently expresses it "Mother is coming down the home stretch." Katie is always "your servant," I am "my son's wife," and the house is always Dicky's.

Out of the corner of my eye I saw Lillian treacherously slipping away. I longed to call "Coward!" after her but instead turned an apologetic face to my mother-in-law.

Please sit down, Mother, and I'll explain everything, I said.

An intrusion like this will take a good deal of explaining, she said so acidly that I caught myself wishing she were a woman of my own age to whom I had no ties of loyalty. And I am not going to sit down until I have satisfied myself as to the state of my dresses. Give them to me.

She almost snatched them from my hands and waved me loftily away from the closet. Then she made a meticulous examination of every gown and of the bundles on the closet floor, moving some of the latter a few inches as if protesting that they were not in their original position. Then, closing the closet door, she waved me majestically to a chair and sat down opposite me.

I am ready to listen now to your explanation, she said.

I struggled with both laughter and indignation before I conquered them and told her the truth concerning Mary's attack of hysteria, assuring her in the beginning that her granddaughter was now all right.

Well, she conceded reluctantly at last, I suppose you did the only thing you could do when you couldn't get into her room any other way. But that door is going to be nailed up tomorrow. I'll have no more traipsing through my room. But what in the world set Mary off like that? Didn't she say something that would give you an idea?

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

IT was like summer yesterday and like winter last night. Last night it snowed a lot so that the world was all white again when I let Jubilee out. Ir the pipe in his teeth and I had to take the broom and sweep off our walks after I had fed my face and I was glad that it had not snowed hard enough so that I had to shovel it.

When I had got out after feeding my face Nibs and I went down to the lake to take a look at the ice and we found that me and Nibs going that way across the pond in step could make it bend quite a lot, and then when we danced back to the dam where the bunch were there was a man there and he had his back to Nibs and the w t d he w h till we g him and he turned around and then we saw that it was the truant us had been skating from school so we he was asking if any Podgreen Dooley and Nobody was the truant officer and I said Is he a tall fat fella w e or o ol and he said Yes. He's a little freckle faced then I looked there was Podgreen almost where we were standing on the lake take a poke right and that made the around seen Podgreen saw what it was they both began lifting their When where the water of the pond instead the truant and pretty soon the feet went through the stuck turning and soaking back for the bank, and then all at once he went through, but the pond is only about up to a man's stummick, so he wouldn't get drownded, and he had to get out by stepping up on the ice and breaking it between him and the shore and while he was doing that Podgreen was soaking him with snowballs till he got near the bank and then Podgreen and his dog went up over the hill. When the truant officer had got out and was shaking himself and saying things the Lost Boy of Tripe told him he would show him where Podgreen lived if he wanted him to and the officer said he had went there once and he said he had had to fight Podgreen's whole family because the family don't care if Podgreen goes to school or not.

Podgreen says he is going to go to work on the iron ore docks when he is old enough and make some real money. He says studying too hard wears out a fella's brains. He says the brains of them men on the docks are as good as new because they have never used them. I shouldn't wonder if he is right too. It sounds all right.

There's a dirty ring around your washtubs

IT COMES from the hard water you use to wash clothes in. Soap and hard water combine to make scum. The scum collects dirt. Part forms a dirty ring. Much gets into the fabric of the clothes. It makes them hard to wash snowy white.

But soften the water with Melo and no scum forms. No dirty ring. No grayish white clothes. Melo and water is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. It saves soap, too, from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap more effective. It makes clothes white. Get it at your grocer's.

Galion Lodge of Elks To Dedicate New Quarters

GALION, Feb. 6—The new home of Galion Lodge of Elks, No. 1191, will be officially opened and dedicated tonight when lodge members and the general public will attend dedicatory services at which District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Perrins will be the featured speaker.

The home which is located on Harding Way E. two blocks east of the public square is the same building formerly occupied by the lodge, but has been enlarged, remodeled and completely redecorated. During their former occupancy the lodge held only the second and third floors whereas now the entire building will be used for lodge purposes. The exterior has been surfaced with brick and the main entrance is to the west of the building.

The entire first floor has been given over to club rooms, with comfortable furnishings, billiard tables and roomy lounges. The interior of the home is done throughout in Spanish finish. The banquet hall or dance floor, and woman's lounges occupy the second floor and the lodge room furnished in the conventional style is located on the third floor.

A busy program of activities will follow the dedication ceremonies with Past Exalted Rulers night being observed Thursday with a business meeting and nomination of officers scheduled. An open house affair is planned for Friday night with a dance and card party. Two initiations will be held in the near future one Feb. 14 and the other Feb. 21. A formal George Washington day ball is the event of social prominence and on March 7 there will be a stag dinner for members and the annual election of officers.

Organized in 1910

The Galion Elks lodge was organized March 31, 1910 and the first exalted ruler of the group was the late William J. Geer, prominent attorney. The lodge has occupied the present site since 1913 and has increased its membership until it now numbers well over 400 active members.

The lodge has been very active in civic welfare work giving a charity show each year for the benefit of unfortunate families and sponsoring many other social events of interest.

What Doctors Say
About the Laxative Habit

What do YOU do when the bowels need a little assistance? If you clear up the condition with some laxative made with CASCARA there's nothing better for the system—for the blood.

But if you don't KNOW the laxative you have learned to depend on is of harmless cascara here's some truly valuable advice.

The bark of a tree called cascara is the most marvelous conditioner mankind has yet found. It stimulates the bowel's muscular action but does NOT weaken. A violent laxative forms the laxative HABIT. You always need more on the morrow. With cascara you don't. Its gentle influence carries on sometimes for days. With less and less need of any aid as time goes on.

So the very next time you feel sluggish take only a candy Cascaret. Delightful to the taste, sweet and acceptable to any stomach and just as efficient as the powerful purges that fairly paralyze the peristaltic walls of one's intestines. The only habit you'll get from Cascarets is the one of going weeks and months without ANY help of the kind. And when you do invoke their aid again the same small dose suffices. Any doctor can tell you about cascara and any druggist has the candy Cascarets.—Adv.

Bucyrus Considers Proposals For New Public Buildings

PLAN CITY HALL AND POSTOFFICE

Members of Bucyrus Council Receive Proposals at Meeting

OFFERS NOW ON FILE

Specifications for Postoffice Provide Estimated Cost of $25,000

BUCYRUS Feb 6—Specifications for a new postoffice building to be erected on East Mansfield st on the site of the old postoffice building were submitted by Robert Carroll owner of the block at last nights meeting of city council the plans calling for an expenditure of approximately $25000

Mr Carroll also specified in the offer that should the city care to purchase the building at any later date he will accept bonds as payment should the city care to finance the purchase in that way The postoffice is at present located in the Pickering building on South Sandusky av The building has been leased for a period of 5 years

Another Proposal

An offer was received and read from Henry Myers through J L Faulkner to the city of Bucyrus to sell the block located directly east of the present city building for a sum of $20 000 and the 42-foot portion touching the plot on which the city building stands for a sum of $12 000 for the erection of a new city building Inadequacy of the present building is apparent and a move was made some time ago for the erection of a new city building by Mayor Schuler who called it A shame to have this building pointed out as the capital building of the city A special committee appointed at that time has the project under advisement at the present time

Both building proposals were filed for councils consideration

Charles F Schaber newly appointed city solicitor was at the meeting and was presented to council for the first time since his appointment last week

Mr Schabers appointment was confirmed by council

Resolutions Passed

Resolutions for paving of sections of Bland av Irving st and Highland av, were passed, also a resolution protesting the newly proposed gasoline tax law

The city service director was directed to advertise for bids for rental of the city farm for a period of two years The farm is an 80 acre tract located southwest of the city on the Wyandot rd

Following a demonstration preceding council meeting in the mayors office the council traffic light committee advised that the city service department be authorized to go ahead with the manufacture of six traffic lights to replace those which were installed several months ago and which proved unsatisfactory The lights were removed after a months trial when they failed to function properly Since the city owns its own controls it was deemed advisable to manufacture its own lights which can be done at a cost of approximately $50 each The City service department was authorized to go ahead with arrangements for the manufacture and installation of the lights at once The lights installed on trial would have cost the city approximately $130 each

After Marysville teams won the county cup three years successively thereby becoming the permanent possessors that school dropped out of the county tournament several years ago with the consent of the other high schools It was decided that Marysville high school had too great an advantage over the other high schools as the local school is a great deal larger than any of the others Since that time both Marysville and the winner of the county contest have gone to Delaware Last year one of the features of the district tourney was the game in which the Union county champs Dover lost to Marysville winner of the district Last year Marysville lost only to the State champions Magnetic Springs cagers were the pre-season favorites and have retained their position thus far as probable county stars.

STATUE OF LIBERTY NOW BEING DEDICATED

SCREAMING [illegible] blaring ocean steamers and hissing streams of water shot sky high from fire boats probably would add their clamorous greeting to the Goddess of Liberty were she to take up her permanent place of r[illegible] on an island in New York harbor in this day of mayor's reception committees, noon day parades up Broadway and national networks of radio stations.

Because the Goddess received but scant attention when she made her official appearance Oct. 26, 1886, on Bedloe's island, station WEW at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night will reenact the dedication ceremonies as they probably would have been broadcast had there been a radio at that time.

Great event had been planned for the day on which the Statue of Liberty should be unveiled in its entirety. However a terrific downpour of rain prevented the parade of downtown New York. The small island nevertheless was packed with people who stood in the rain to see the cloth dropped from the torch of the statue.

ALL three favorites came through with more or less impressive victories as the second round of the Senior Sunday school cage league swung into action at the Y M C A last night Christian first half champs stepped on Waldo 30 to 23 Epworth walloped the United Brethren quintet 31 to 24 and the Calvary five dropped another to the Baptists 26 to 11

In the first game of the evening Trinity Baptist was just a little bit too big of a bite for the Calvary five to digest in one game W Merchant who led the loop in individual scoring the first round and Osterholt Trinity center were high scorers for the game with 11 points each Johnson led the losers with six counters The Baptists led at the half 15 to 10

The Central Christian cagers coasted home to a fairly easy win over the Waldo five behind the heavy offensive work of Cliff Ward The little forward rang up six field goals and four free throws The winners displayed the same brand of ball that won the first half of the schedule for them although their star center Johnny Gillis was on the sidelines H Rengert was high for the losers with nine points Christians were ahead at the half way mark 20 to 12

In the last game of the night the Epworth five gained sweet revenge over the U B Iron men for the defeat handed them in the first round The final whistle saw the Methodists on the long end of a 31 to 24 score The United Brethren team resorted to long shots during the entire game and sank just enough to keep the final result in doubt until the end of the game Cram Epworth running guard was hot for the first time this season with 13 counters This is as much as he scored during the whole first round Vanderhoff led the losers with four baskets The score at the half was 10 to 9 with the eventual winners on the long end

DREYFUSS IS NAMED OFFICER OF LEAGUE

New Post of Vice President Created To Give Barney Job in National Loop, Bid Farewell to Old Waldorf Hotel

NEW YORK Feb 6—The National league went into session for hours and hours yesterday but accomplished nothing of importance

They elected Barney Dreyfuss vice president of the league creating a new post in order to give him the job adopted the schedule bade farewell to the Waldorf hotel as their official meeting place and then talked themselves through the supper hour and well into the theater schedule

The season as has already been announced will open on April 16 with the Giants playing in Philadelphia Brooklyn performing in Boston the Pirates playing hosts to the Cubs and the champion Cardinals displaying their wares at Cincinnati

Thanks to the gyrations of the Boston council the whole schedule is still in the air Until the council takes definite stand on the Sunday baseball situation it will remain high in the atmosphere too The schedule as drawn provides for Sunday ball games in Boston and the league yesterday empowered the president to make whatever changes he deemed necessary in case the Sunday law is killed by the city council of the New England city

Certain changes in the constitution setting the waiver price on first year men at $1,500 were adopted in accordance with the action taken at the Chicago meeting in December

The passing of the Waldorf was regretted in a set of resolutions adopted by the league owners The Waldorf has been the scene of the league gatherings since 1907 and many a stormy session has been held there It was in the Waldorf in [illegible] that Charley Ebbets made his inspired prophecy that baseball was in its infancy and it was at the Waldorf too that the fortieth anniversary dinner was celebrated

No provisions have been made by the league for future meetings—and the job of finding a new hotel will be a rather unpleasant one for those who remember the Waldorf sessions and all they meant to baseball

At the end of the session President Heydler named the staff of umpires Only one new man has been added George J Magerkurth is the new arbiter He comes here from the Pacific Coast league Previous to going to the coast he served a long umpirical term in the International League

DELAWARE Feb 6—Ohio Wesleyan university's basketball team will meet Miami here tomorrow night without the services of Charles Wertz Toledo forward Wertz was declared ineligible here today because of his failure to make the necessary point average in studies during the first semester Wertz is a letterman in basketball and had been seen in the line frequently at forward for the Battling Bishops throughout the season He was also a star halfback on Ohio Wesleyan's great 1928 football team and scored the touchdown which enabled the Battling Bishops to defeat Syracuse 6 to 0

Reinforced by the addition of two varsity men from the Vernon Heights freshman five the heretofore weak Calvary quintet threw a big scare into the Central Christian team in the feature clash of last night's games in the intermediate Sunday school loop The final score was 16 to 10 with the Christians on the long end

The Christian cagers who won the first round championship led at the half eight to four and had the edge of the argument most of the way Johnston was high with nine points

In the second game Epworth swamped the Trinity Baptists under a 35 to 8 score The Baptists increased their playing roster to four men this week and by the time they get five players should go out and win themselves a basketball game Ling was high man of the game with 14 counters Fout was right behind him with five buckets

In the midnight clash the Presbyterian team came too close for comfort in upsetting the fast stepping Greenwood five The game ended 15 to 11 with the north end five on the [illegible] The winners had a one point margin at the half 5 to 4 [illegible] for the winners with six points and Wright took the same amount to lead the losers The scores

Advancing Copper Sends Industrials Up Scale of Prices

RED METAL REACHES NEW RECORD MARK

Buying Orders Flood Market at Opening of Morning Wire

RAILS IN DEMAND

Profit Taking and Short Selling Send Motor Stocks Down

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Feb 6—Wall street worked itself up into a nervous fit over the money situation today and sold stocks in such abundance that prices of the market favorites tumbled three to 15 points. Everything was running along smoothly until the word was passed around that the reserve board would issue another blast against the ballooning of bank credit in stock market speculation and that the Bank of England directors would take steps to stop the drainage of gold from London to New York. Then the flood gates of selling were opened and the bears rode high handed in a falling market.

BY W S COUSINS
I N S Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Feb 6—Industrial stocks moved upward under the lead of the coppers this morning. Buying orders flooded the market at the opening, piling up heavy turnovers for many of the active shares and sending the ticker back about 15 minutes in the first hour. The rails and the specialties were in good demand all the way through while the oils slumped off under the handicap of record breaking crude oil production.

With the price of copper metal forging ahead of 17½ cents a pound, the highest in seven years, big increases in the earnings of the copper producers will follow logically. Though raising its dividend from [illegible] per cent in December, Anaconda Copper company boosted the rate this week to 7 per cent and current earnings are running at the rate of $15 a share.

New gains of one to three points were recorded in the well known copper shares including Anaconda, Greene Cananea, American Smelting, Andes, Kennecott, Tennessee Copper & Chemical, Inspiration and Cerro de Pasco. Strength of American Smelting was due in part to the new 10-point advance in lead metal prices. A new move in Bethlehem Steel brought the price of that stock up to 93¾, the highest price since its entrance into the dividend class.

The motor stocks ran into a heavy load of profit taking and short selling in the second hour and further progress was out of the question. U S Steel also lagged and lost about two points. American Can, Mack Trucks and other favorites also lost ground.

Call money was in good supply at seven per cent.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb 6—Selling precipitated by the working of large amounts of wheat and corn to come to Chicago from outside markets caused a sharp break in grain prices near the close yesterday. Early gains were quickly wiped out and when stop loss orders were uncovered prices broke badly under general liquidation.

At the close wheat futures showed net losses for the day of 1⅞@2¼c. Corn was 1¼@1⅜c lower, oats ⅜@½c off and rye was down 1@1⅜c.

Buying by local bulls had supported wheat prices and resulted in fair advances in corn in the early trade but the array of bearish news which developed in the cash market was too formidable. Some of the early buyers turned sellers and the dip carried the markets into stop loss orders.

Buy From Outside Markets

Purchases of 1,5 000 bu of wheat and a like amount of corn to come from outside markets were reported up to the final hour of trading. More was said to be working. This was accompanied by the withdrawal of one of the principal buyers from the cash corn market, and sales of [illegible] 000 bu of corn to go to store.

Wheat eased off slightly from an unchanged opening, but all the news at the outset appeared favorable to holders and under the impetus of buying by local bulls prices advanced above the previous close. There were further reports of damage and a cold wave was reported due to strike the troubled sections of Nebraska.

Liverpool closed unchanged to ⅝d lower but reported a firm market owing to improved demand from the continent. Seaboard wires told of increased bids with sales of 500 000 bu of Manitoba.

A Temporary Break

While the purchase from outside markets indicated that local prices were drawing out of line with domestic as well as foreign markets, supporters of the wheat market had not changed their views at the close. The situation leading to the break yesterday was looked upon as more or less temporary and due to the large stocks of wheat on hand.

The decidedly favorable aspect which the world situation has assumed in the last few weeks, coupled with present unfavorable conditions in Winter wheat territory promise further active support, in the opinion of the local bulls.

Failure of the Buenos Aires corn market to decline because of good rains in the Argentine and reports of increasing interest in the export market led to the early buying in corn. However, when prices had advanced into the offers, a cent above the previous close, selling more than met the demand. One pit operator said that the main depressing influence before the sharp break was the steady sales by country elevators and warehouses in small lots.

Cash Wheat Steady

While the break in corn was rather drastic, being nearly 3 cents from the high of the day, it was looked upon as placing the market in better technical condition. Export inquiries have been increasing and prices have been only slightly out of line. Since the start of the upturn four weeks ago corn has had no real setback, and it is expected the decline will increase foreign purchase.

In the cash market wheat was steady; corn unchanged to 1c up; oats steady to ½c higher; rye dull, and barley steady, during the [illegible] of the session.

BRAKE ADJUSTMENT
ASK FOR OPERATIONS No [illegible] or No 73.
Winter driving conditions — snow, ice, slush, mud, rain, freezing and thawing—often cause your brakes to operate in an unsatisfactory and inefficient manner. The brakes "freeze," get out of adjustment, etc.
To correct or prevent this condition we clean all linings and equalize brakes. We apply to each brake part a graphite composition under air pressure which both lubricates and strengthens the brake.
